ARTIST STATEMENT

Lisa is a Swiss artist currently splitting her time between Zürich and coastal France. Using unorthodox forms, Lisa incorporates natural elements with traditional methods; her work explores the relationship between humans and the natural world, between life and death. Whether with driftwood, skulls, skins, or fur, the work of Lisa Looser awakens our primitive spirit, exposes our yearning to return to nature, our desire to shirk modern constraints and run free. "At first drawing was an excuse; A reason I could name, why I was hiding in my room. But somehow the excuse from back then became the language that I prefer to reach out to again."
